Join artist and natural vision teacher Gail Dennison, creator of Vision Gym® and cocreator of Brain Gym®, for a day of playful Double Doodle drawing and painting..

Discover:

- your own innate ability to draw and paint
- new ways to connect with color, shape, and movement
- the informative nature of the design process
- a fun way to journal your experiences
- joy, ease, and serendipity in creative expression

We'll Explore Brain Gym® and Vision Gym® Movements As They Relate to:

- the midfield and centralized vision
- homologous movements that prepare the way for heartfelt drawing
- using the eyes in a more relaxed, whole-brain way
- simple things to do at home or in the classroom to encourage healthy visual skills
- reclaiming our ambidexterity as we carry out our daily-life activities

Learn How the Following Abilities Affect Reading and Fine-Motor Skills:

- crossing the visual/kinesthetic midline
- binocularity for working in the midfield
- the internalization of early developmental skills
- spatial awareness and depth perception
- self-perception as it regards movement and tactility

Gail E. Dennison is the cocreator, with her husband, Paul E. Dennison, of Educational Kinesiology, the Brain Gym® movements, and the Hearts at Play series of books and manuals on learning through movement, including Brain Gym®: Teacher's Edition. Gail has originated several internationally recognized Edu-K programs, including Visioncircles, Movement Dynamics and Double Doodle Play: A Window to Whole-Brain Vision. She is a member of the Edu-K International Faculty.
